Developmentally appropriate practice, often shortened to DAP, is an approach to teaching grounded both in the research on how young children develop and learn and in what is known about effective early education. It includes literature, guidelines, and recommendations for creating developmentally appropriate programs that are understood to align with what children can be expected to do cognitively, physically, and emotionally at a certain age. Of course, not all children develop at the same rate, so often there's a range of abilities that are considered developmentally appropriate for each age.
